

TRAINING FOR BUSINESS AND HR PROFESSIONALS

We all deserve to be part of a high-performing team

Professional development is integral to the success of any organisation; it creates a more positive work culture and better business results overall.

IGNITE YOUR TEAM'S SUCCESS

Powered by the Australian HR Institute (AHRI), Ignition Training aims to build business-critical skills and knowledge for new and emerging managers or team leaders.

From private and public sector companies to not-for-profit businesses, Ignition Training works with organisations to deliver customised training solutions that match their needs.

We deliver over 400 corporate training programs nationwide per year, drawing from a range of 50 HR, management and business skills courses, 100+ elearning modules and self-contained training toolkits.

We can also support your organisation through tenders, Requests for Quotations (RFQs) and consulting services.

Cultivating leadership and management, managing performance, creating high-performing teams and ensuring legislative compliance are some of the critical areas of training we deliver.

AHRI's expert project management and customer service delivery is drawn from over 75 years of experience in providing specialist training and professional development, ensuring we have training methods that align to your organisation.

Whether you're a not-for-profit, government or private organisation, Ignition Training has a team training solution that is business-focused and professional.

GROUP TRAINING NEEDS ANALYSIS (TNA)

A Training Needs Analysis (TNA) tool can assess your HR team's skills and benchmark their capabilities and behaviours against the AHRI Model of Excellence.

The TNA group assessment will assess your team's current skills and capabilities and identify an analytical road map for further development.

Underpinned by AHRI's globally-benchmarked Model of Excellence, your employees will receive a series of questions designed to help you make an informed, strategic decision on the training needs of your team. On completion of the individual self-assessment, your organisation will receive an aggregated group report with insights and a recommended professional development plan.

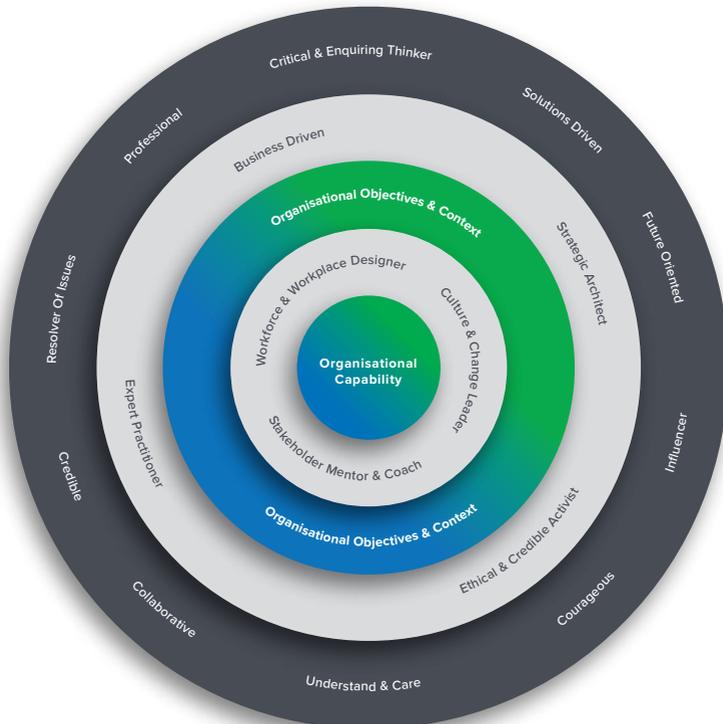

A group TNA is suitable for mid-to-large organisations and is designed to save valuable time and shape the development of your teams, resulting in greater team and individual capability. The TNA creates a comprehensive learning and development plan based on current skill sets and provides recommendations that drive organisational strategy.

AHRI MODEL OF EXCELLENCE

The AHRI Model of Excellence is a graphic representation of what HR practitioners should know, what they are expected to do, and what their employer expects them to demonstrate, in terms of behaviours and capabilities.

The seven behaviours and capabilities today's HR practitioners require are:

1. Business driven
2. Strategic architect
3. Ethical and credible activist
4. Expert practitioner
5. Workforce and workplace designer
6. Culture and change leader
7. Stakeholder mentor and coach

IN-HOUSE TRAINING

Teams that train together receive the benefit of ongoing interaction and a consistency in knowledge, providing a tangible return well beyond the training.

With over 50 courses across HR, business, leadership and management, we can deliver customised options or off the shelf training solutions to meet the needs of your organisation. Programs are offered nationally for in-house delivery, ranging from half-day to two-day formats.

Our clients include small to large size leading public, private and not-for-profit organisations.
